SYLVAN STREET (Jazz)

ON SALE NOW

Michael G. Nastos of All Music Guide describes the music of Sylvan Street as "slick fusion with attractive horn charts...could easily be identified as a studio band from Los Angeles." Tucson Weekly writes, "this jazz band's output is cutting-edge and aggressive." The Arizona Daily Star dubbed Sylvan Street "a formidable player on the jazz scene, both locally and on the road."

A local favorite since 2008, Sylvan Street returns to Tucson for the CD release celebration of Here In America, the band's second jazz fusion album for Summit Records. The concert kicks off their CD release tour across Arizona and California, and marks the band's fourth appearance in Tucson following the release of their critically acclaimed debut disc The Perfect Leaf.

Sylvan Street's high-octane collection of original works blends a diverse and eclectic stew of Latin grooves, cool jazz, traditional blues, and driving funk, infused with a progressive rock influenced edge. They also pack a punch innovating tunes by such artists as Radiohead and Chick Corea, performed with Sylvan Street's signature intensity and emotional style.

Formed by band leader and composer Jay Rees, Sylvan Street is an accomplished group of jazz players from coast to coast featuring Jay Rees, Bass; Kelland Thomas, Saxophone; Kenny Smukal, Trumpet; Frank Browne, Guitar; Andrew Hix, Drums/Vocals; Michael Harrison, Trumpet; Evan Rees, Piano/Keyboards; and Michael Faltin, Percussion.
